CANCER CURED
—AND A—
LIFE SAVED
By the Persistent Use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. FIELDS, Bloomfield, Ia.

Congressman Bailey's Dress.

Congressman Bailey of Texas thus replies to recent criticisms of his dress: "I have always held that society had no right, by its dictum, to regulate the style of a man's clothes. Ever since I could afford it, I have dressed just as I do today. I have worn the same black broadcloth suit, cut in the same style; the same style of broad shirt front and a white tie; the same kind of collar and broad black felt hat. I wear these clothes regardless of the day of the week or the hour or of society's dictation because I believe they become me, and they please my wife. There is a rule of society which prescribes that a dress suit shall not be worn until after 6 o'clock in the evening. If I chose to wear a dress suit, I would feel free to put it on in the morning or evening, or at noon, just as the fancy dictated. It seems to me that the society rule which attempts to regulate a man's dress is autocratic. The rule prescribing dress originated in the old customs of the court nobility. We are simply imitating these old aristocrats when we bar a person out of society because he does not dress in the fashion. If men showed more independence in the matter of dress, they would soon be able to break over the society restraints, and after that anybody could wear whatever he chose to, so long as he conformed to the law of the land and wore something. So far as I am concerned, I shall continue to wear whatever suits me and at the same time meets the approval of my wife."

Staple, Barstaple.

In Anglo-Saxon the word "stapol," "stapel" or "stapul" denoted a post or pillar of wood or stone. In local names it has various significations. Such posts or pillars were often erected to mark places where markets were held, or where merchandise could be exposed for sale. Such probably were Dunstaple, in Bedfordshire, a market on the chalk downs, and Barnstaple, in Devon. Sometimes the stapel was a post marking the place of the hundred moots.

We have hundreds called Barnstaple and Thurstable in Essex, and one called Staple in Sussex. There are seven places called Stapleton, but as none of them is a market town they were probably merely farmsteads marked by a post, one of them, called Stapledun in Domesday, being a hill with a post. So of the nine Staplefords none is a marked town, and they were probably fords marked or protected by piles or posts. Stalbridge, Dorset, called Staplebridge in Domesday, was probably a trestle bridge. Whitestable in Kent must have taken its name from a white pillar, erected either for a market or as a guide to ships entering the harbor, or to which boats could be moored. Staplehurst must have been a wood marked by a post, or, like Stockwith, a wood where stumps or posts were left standing.—Notes and Queries.

She Was Too Sharp For Them.

One day last winter a stylishly dressed woman stepped from a coach in front of a big dry goods store in New York and proceeding to the fur department selected a seal wrap worth $300. In payment she tendered a check for $1,000, which the saleswoman took to the office. A messenger was dispatched to the bank, and he was told that the check was good. Meantime the woman pretended to be indignant, demanded a return of the check, would accept no apologies and drove away. Presently she returned and said she had allowed her temper to overcome her and ordered the cloak wrapped up. She was given $700 in change and disappeared. A second visit to the bank disclosed the fact that the woman had withdrawn the $1,000 she had on deposit there and that the check was worthless.

Mr. Gratebar's Advice to Philip.

"It isn't new, the idea of living within one's income," said Mr. Gratebar, "but I am trying to impress on Philip the importance of beginning in his youth. I don't want him to be mean or stingy, but I do want him to save something every year, without interruption, and to begin when he is young. Begun early and kept up continuously, it is almost wonderful how even small savings accumulate. There is scarcely a man who cannot provide himself with a moderate fortune from his savings alone by beginning early and keeping at it.

"Old? Of course it's old; old as the hills, but how many of us have profited by it? And I want Philip to begin now."—New York Sun.

A Possible Explanation.

Why was St. Andrew selected to be the patron saint of Scotland? This question has exercised clerical and lay curiosity, but has not been satisfactorily answered unless the explanation offered by the archdeacon of Calcutta at a dinner which he attended on St. Andrew's day be confirmed as final. "Gentlemen," he said, "I have given this difficult subject my thoughtful consideration, and I have come to the conclusion that St. Andrew was chosen to be the patron saint of Scotland because he discovered the lad who had the loaves and fishes!"—London Telegraph.

She Endures More.

A recent lecturer says: "Fewer women commit suicide than men. This is because woman makes less protest against her circumstances of life, has more endurance under its calamities and is more resigned." Why does she protest less and endure more? Is it merely a matter of habit?

She Saw a Scowl Then.

Queer Combination.

The Man Behind—Pardon me, miss, I can see nothing owing to your hat.

The Woman In Front—True! There is nothing owing. I have paid for it in full.—Philadelphia Record.

The Cows In the Mortgage.

There is a man in Taylor county who knows how to mortgage cows. The Montezuma Record knows this man and vouches for him. The man is a farmer, and recently a collector called on him for the payment of a note secured by chattel mortgage.

The farmer was obdurate and gave no satisfaction that he would ever pay the note. Finally the collector said:

"Well, I'll have to take the 11 cows named in the mortgage."

"Why, yes, I have." And the collector pulled out a copy of the mortgage and read as follows:

"'One red and white cow, one cow spotted red and white, one red cow with white spots, one cow with white spot in forehead, one red cow with two white hind feet, one white cow with red spots on side, one white and red cow, one red cow with two white fore feet, one white cow with red spot on shoulders, one red cow with white spots on hips, one white cow spotted with red.' Now, how do you like that?" continued the collector.

"Oh, that's all right. I see you've got 11 mortgages on my old red and white cow. There she is down in the pasture. The boys will go down and help you catch her!"—Atlanta Constitution.

A Racial Difference.

There can be no question that very many of the differences, mental and bodily, that exist between the average Frenchman and the average Englishman are caused by the distinct methods of education that prevail on the different sides of the channel. You would not like your son's only schooling to be obtained in France. On the other hand, you have a pretty distinct belief that if French boys were sent over here young enough and put to good English schools, they would grow up into a very fair sort of Britons. A typical story of the ways of French schoolboys, with their ushers, is reported in recent morning papers. Some spirits had been smuggled into one of the dormitories—a thing, we fear, not altogether unknown in some English establishments. It is even conceivable that the English master who discovered the bottle would have confiscated it to his own use, but this would not have been at the invitation of his pupils. But the French pion in question was contented to make one of the party, and as he was not so used to rum as his pupils, he got so terribly drunk that he died. Happily for the French boys, their compulsory military service gives them an opportunity, later on for learning a little discipline.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Thief Discovered.

An employee in an up town resort has been held under suspicion for some time, and came near losing his position, on account of the antics of a big tomcat. For weeks the cash registers, when counted at the close of the day's business, showed a deficit of several dollars, and no clew could be had to explain the mysterious absence of the money. The proprietor, having great confidence in his employee, was mystified, and not until a few nights ago was the matter made clear. While alone in the place, after closing hours, the proprietor was startled to hear the click of the registers, followed by repeated clicks, like those of a novice upon the keys of a piano. Looking up, he found his pet cat playing upon the keys of the register and apparently enjoying the performance as much as if he were a feline Paderewski.—New York Journal.

Vindicated the Law.

A friend of Representative Culberson of Texas related the following incident: "When Mr. Culberson was prosecuting attorney," he said, "there was a criminal statute universally disregarded. The indictment of a well known man for violation of this law was secured through the efforts of Mr. Culberson, who prosecuted the case with more vigor than almost any he had ever conducted, succeeding in securing a conviction and sentence to the penitentiary. Then he left town, and no one knew where he had gone until he and the prisoner, who had been taken to the penitentiary, returned together. Mr. Culberson had gone to the governor, obtained a pardon, and met the convict at the penitentiary with it. The law had been vindicated, and there were no more violations of that statute in Jefferson."—Washington Star.

Not Enough Muses.

The unmusical manager who protested when he found a performer in his orchestra holding his bow during a rest, saying to him, "I don't pay you to rest!" was the same one who, on another occasion, was superintending the arrangement of some performers who were representing allegorical characters.

"Here in front," said the author of the piece which was to be given, "we will put the nine muses."

"Nine muses!" exclaimed the great manager contemptuously. "Nine muses would look well in that great space, wouldn't they? We will have 36 muses!"—Youth's Companion.

Overdoing It.

"Now, I maintain," said Miss Strong, "that there is no place filled by man which a woman cannot fill. Is that comprehensive enough?"

"It is very comprehensive," replied Mr. Northside, "but I am prepared to go still further in advocacy of woman's ability."

"Are you?"

"Yes, I am. On the seat of a street car, for instance, she can fill two men's places."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Vinegar by a Quick Process.

Vinegar may be made in a very short time by a sort of filtering process that can be handled by any person of ordinary ingenuity. A large barrel has a perforated shelf fitted in a few inches below the top. From the holes fall ends of pack thread, which are knotted at the upper end so that they may not be drawn entirely through. Glass tubes are fixed in the shelf as air vents. The lower edge of the barrel is filled with holes placed about six inches above the bottom, and a siphon carries off the liquid that accumulates below this point. Diluted alcoholic liquor, slightly sweetened with honey or with extract of malt, is slowly dripped through the holes in the shelf and runs through beechwood shavings that have previously been steeped in good vinegar. The liquor, which should be kept at a temperature of 75 to 85 degrees F., filters down through the threads and over the shavings to the bottom of the barrel, whence it runs over through the siphon. After awhile the temperature in the barrel rises to about 100 degrees F., the chemical action going on meanwhile. It is necessary to pour the liquor again and again through the generator before it is satisfactory. From three or four to half a dozen filterings are usually sufficient, though more are sometimes required, depending a good deal on the quality of the materials and the temperature at starting.—New York Ledger.

She Was Not Engaged.

Mrs. B. had changed girls, and was undergoing the usual catechism at the hands of her kitchen's future ruler. After a succession of damsels from "the ould dart" her husband had strenuously insisted that she try "an intelligent and cleanly American girl." He had found such a one and was sure she would prove a treasure. The lady of the house even thought he might not be mistaken, so trim and neat was the newcomer.

"Yes. I'm a splendid washer," that person said, "and I can iron shirts to beat a Chinaman—I always did up father's at home. I always had time, for, you see, I know how to manage. Flat things, sheets, tablecloths, napkins, I fold and lay around in the chairs; they come out beautifully smooth when you have sat on them a day or two. And that reminds me to ask, where had you rather I put them, here in your chair or your husband's?"

It took Mrs. B. sometime minutes to recover speech, but finally she managed to say that on the whole she feared she would not suit a domestic so progressive.—New York Journal.

How Crockett Lived.

S. R. Crockett, the Scotch writer, has been telling how he used to raise the heat when a hard up student in Edinburgh. He lodged with a friend over a great coal station; and he used to go out in the evening and pick up the coals which the carts had dropped in the streets. "Sometimes," he says, "I grew so bold as to chuck a lump of coal at a driver, who invariably looked for the biggest lump on his load to hit back with, which was what I wanted. Thus the exercise warmed me at the time and the coal warmed me afterward. And occasionally we got a large enough stock to sell to our companions, and buy a book or two. But I wish, here and now, solemnly to state that I never, never condescended to lift a lump off a cart, at least hardly—well, unless it was manifestly inconveniencing the safety of the load or overburdening the safety of the horse, you know!"

A Gibraltar Legend.

One of the stock of ancient legends relating to the Rock of Gibraltar, from which the passing griffs were formerly regaled, relates how a young Scotch subaltern was on guard duty with a brother officer, when the latter in visiting the sentries fell over a precipice and was killed. When the survivor was relieved from duty, he made the customary written report in the usual form, "Nothing extraordinary." And this brought the brigade major down upon him in a rage. "What! When your brother officer on duty with you has fallen down a precipice 400 feet high and been killed, you report nothing extraordinary!" "Weel, sir," replied the Scot calmly, "I dinna think there's onything extraornery in it, ava. If he had fa'en doon four hunder' feet and not been killed—weel, I should hae ca'd that extraornery."

Human Broth.

A very singular superstition has just come to light. According to an authority in Shanghai, the heathen Chinee lives under the impression that the healing qualities of the human flesh are practically unlimited.

For this reason when a father or mother is taken ill the flesh of one of the children is frequently sacrificed in order that it may be made into what one might describe as beef tea for the stricken parent.

Not long ago a clerk in a government office deliberately cut off his finger in the belief that when made into soup it would improve the health of his mother, who lay ill.

Atmosphere.

There is a wide difference of opinion among the learned men of the world as to what would be the effect of wholly removing the atmosphere. Some think that if it were possible to live afterward all the stars, planets, etc., would be visible in broad daylight. Others declare that there would be no day, and that the sun itself could not be seen under such conditions.—St. Louis Republic.

Great Aid to Conversation.

"You play beautifully," exclaimed the lovely vision.

"Thank you," he murmured.

"You make me think of such a number of things to say," the woman proceeded, with undisguised rapture.—Detroit Tribune.

A WARNING TO PARENTS.

The arrest of young Brundage and Perasso in this place, one day last week, charged with robbing the express office at El Verano of $60 or $70, ought to prove a warning to parents and guardians to keep a watchful eye on their boys. These youngsters, neither of whom are over eighteen years of age, owing to evil associates, have been branded as thieves, on their own confession, and one at least is liable in... "But to forfeit his right to citizenship on the ownership very threshold of young manhood. this key, ed buzzard. These boys for a long time, "It with others of about their own age, tuner, have been allowed by their parents again, and guardians to roam the streets arour by day and by night in idleness says when they should have been in glo school or at work on the farm during the day and clustered around the family fireside of an evening. Had these boys been thrown in contact with those going to school or engaged in learning a trade instead of associating with the idle and vicious on mischief bent they might have become good and useful citizens.

To a certain extent the parents of these youngsters are responsible for their downfall. Had they kept a more watchful eye on their offspring it is about an even chance that they would have turned out different. Still, the parents are not altogether to blame. The boys themselves were capable of judging what was right and what was wrong, and each for himself could have mapped out an honorable career, but patterning after their evil associates they chose the downward path through life, with the result that one is in jail while the other has escaped immunity from punishment by turning State's evidence on the other. The moral of this is: Parents, look out for your boys, and we will say right here that there are a number in this community that need to be looked after before it is too late. Send them to school or put them to work learning one of the trades, keep them home evenings to the end that they be not influenced by association with the vicious and depraved. Boys, have an ambition in life. Remember that an "honest man is the noblest work of God." Beware of bad companionship. Choose your own company, and choose it well. If you desire to adopt one of the professions attend the High School. If your parents cannot afford the expense go to work and earn enough money to secure an education, as did the late General Garfield, who as a canal boy on the shores of Lake Erie drove a mule for small wages, saved his money, went to college on his earnings, became a General in the army and afterwards President of the United States. If you wish to adopt one of the trades apprentice yourself to learn one of the many callings in life. Be industrous. Save your money, and if you do not become a noted soldier or a famed statesman, althought both are within the grasp of any ambitious boy, you will at least become a well-to-do, useful and valuable member of society.

GENEROUS SONOMA.

Sonoma City is high in the esteem of every teacher in this county just now, and all are speaking of the generous manner in which they were received by the hospitable people of that place during the institute.

The mother town has a most advantageous location, the valley surrounding it being one of great beauty, and with such pleasant surroundings and warm-hearted entertainers the weeks' stay was a pleasant and profitable one to all.

Healdsburg teachers say they had the best kind of a time, and are only yearning for the time when another session will be held there. The Enterprise is glad to note that our sister city is now awakening and will let outsiders know of its many charms. The Bear Flag celebration to be held in the historic old town in June, will give the people of that city a grand opportunity of again proving their ability as entertainers. Healdsburg will send a big delegation to the celebration.—Healdsburg Enterprise.

Capt. W. B. Pless, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Granice and Miss Dora Howe visited the Senator Jones ranch last Tuesday.

Jo. Guilfoyle and Fred Fouts of Sonoma visited Tubb's Island in a sail boat last Thursday, where they will engage in harvesting next week.

Jas. McMackin has about three hundred acres in grain that is said to be the finest ever seen in the State. It will go over thirty bushels to the acre.

Geo. Spanning, formerly of Sonoma is now acting as clerk in Vollmar's Hotel, Jo. Anderson having thrown up the position to take a much-needed rest.

A bicycle club has been formed in this place by Messrs. Goodman, Green, Ohm and others. A number of ladies are enrolled as members, several of whom are excellent riders.

J. H. Humphreys, for the past five or six years the Southern Pacific station agent at this place, has removed with his family to Vineyard on the Donahue road, where he has assumed charge of the new station at that place.

The 800-acre barley field on the upper ranch of the Senator Jones place will turn out a heavy crop this season. There are few spots in the field and the grain stands about four feet high on a level and is heavily bearded.

ROBBERY AT EL VERANO.

How It Was Accomplished—Brundage Held to Answer.

Charles Brundage, arrested on Friday of last week by Deputy Marshal Stockwell, charged with robbing Wells, Fargo & Co's express office at El Verano of between $60 and $70, had his preliminary examination before Judge Cheney Monday afternoon and was held to answer before the Superior Court, charged with burglary.

Paul Perasso, a sixteen-year-old boy who was arrested with Brundage, turned State's evidence and made a clean breast of the robbery.

It appears that Brundage watched express agent Mullen and saw where he deposited the money before leaving the office for his home at noon on Thursday of last week. Brundage then told Perasso to keep watch while he entered the office and secured the coin. After getting the money Brundage, with his companion in crime, cached it under the iron bridge which spans Sonoma Creek between this place and El Verano. They then went to their respective homes. The next morning Brundage gave Perasso $2 and together they started to Santa Rosa to take in the Rose Carnival, where they were traced and arrested by officer Stockwell. Perasso then made a clean breast of the whole affair and told the officer where the money was secreated, but upon going to the spot where the coin was originally cached Perasso was dumbfounded to find the money gone. Brundage in turn had robbed him.

Brundage was then placed in jail and Perasso, as a witness for the State, was released on his own recognizance.

On Saturday last officer Stockwell visited Brundage in the jail and the prisoner, seeing the jig was up, confessed his crime and told where the money was secreted. It was found hid in a barn on his parents' place in El Verano, and was recovered with the exception of a few dollars.

Both Brundage and Perasso are well-known in this place. They are members of what is known as the "Livery Stable Club," composed of a number of idle boys residing in this community. The badge of membership is a red ribbon and the club is officered from President down.

Sonoma and the Santa Rosa Carnival.

The High School float of this place, which took part in the Rose Carnival parade at Santa Rosa on Friday of last week, was one of the most imposing and elaborate in the procession. The float was designed by Principal and Vice-Principal Weed and Sims, who deserve great praise in their successful efforts to sustain Sonoma's reputation in doing well whatever she undertakes. The float won the second prize, $15, for being the second best of its class, the Santa Rosa High School winning the first prize. Many who witnessed the parade declare that our float was entitled to the first prize, but of course it would never do to allow first honors to go to modest, retiring Sonoma with Santa Rosa as a competitor. Over two-hundred people attended the Carnival on Friday from Sonoma and vicinity.

Will Report Next Week.

The Finance Committee of the Teachers' Institute, comprising Messrs. Fred'k T. Duhring, Robt. Hall, G. S. Harris and H. H. Granice, will make their report of the receipts and expenditures in next weeks' issue of the INDEX-TRIBUNE. The report will show how much money was contributed to entertain the teachers, who contributed it and how it was disbursed. With the receipts of the Band Concert, the "Merchant of Venice" and the contributions enough money will be on hand to enable the Finance Committee to audit all bills.

Dowdall-Terry.

Ed. Dowdall and Miss Maggie Terry were married in St. Francis' Church last Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock by Rev. Father Whyte. Miss Annie Terry, a sister to the bride, acted as bridesmaid and Wm. Kearney as best man. The happy young couple took the afternoon Southern Pacific train for San Jose, where they went to spend a brief honeymoon. Mr. and Mrs. Dowdall will take up their residence on the Corbet place.

NEW CITY TRUSTEES.

J. HENRY SEIPP ELECETD PRESIDENT.

Policy of the Board as Outlined by Its New Presiding Officer—His Address—Other Matters.

The newly-elected City Trustees met in regular monthly session last Wednesday evening, Messrs. J. E. Poppe, Henry Hartin, J. H. Seipp and L. Modini being present and V. Bulotti absent.

Clerk Breitenbach informed the Trustees that their first duty was to choose one of their number President and that nominations were in order.

Upon taking the chair President Seipp addressed the Board as follows:

"Gentlemen of the Board:

"Whenever a President of these United States or a Governor of a State is elected it is customary for him to deliver what is called an Inaugaural address stating the needs and wants of the country. As the newly elected President of this Board I shall endeavor to deliver a little address of my own, stating the wants and needs of Sonoma City. In the first place, I thank you very much for electing me President of your honorable Board. I shall endeavor to do all I can to fill the position with honor to you, the people at large and myself. I hope that we shall be harmonious in all of our doings, and that our great aim shall be to work for the best interest of the City of Sonoma. There are quite a number of important measures that will be brought up before the new administration, but of course we cannot with our limited means do everything at once. By the people working in harmony with us we can, under the circumstances, accomplish a great deal.

"The water question was quite an important factor in our last municipal election. We need water and plenty of it, and the only way to get it is by encouraging one good water-works system and to set down (if I may be allowed the expression) on all these petty franchises that are being asked for and will be asked for if we allow it. If we continue to allow them, why in a short time we will have no water for any purpose, we will have an expensive fire apparatus for sale and the city will be where she was forty years ago.

"I was elected on what you might call a platform favoring one good water works system and I am going to stand by those people who elected me on that proposition and fight against all those petty franchises that may come up before this Board. I am told that the present owners of the Sonoma Water Company intend to improve their facilities for supplying the city with water. I am sure that they will have the hearty support of this Board in their undertaking.

"Our Plaza needs a great deal of attention. It is a disgrace the way it looks at present. We have been spending a great deal of money on it every year, and what can we show for it? Nothing. It will take a great deal of work to get it in a presentable shape. I hope that the Plaza Committee will see to it, and improve it to such an extent that it will be an ornament to the city.

"There is not much to complain of in regard to the streets. They are good, very good, as compared with streets I have seen in cities four times as large as Sonoma. Of course they need constant attention. Some of these need more gravel and I would recommend that Broadway, being our principal street, is deserving of more consideration at the hands of the Board, to which the Street Committee is respectfully referred.

"Our City Pavilion needs some attention. I am opposed to spending much money on the old building. I understand that the foundation is bad, the roof is not in a very good condition, and I think it would be only a waste of money to repair it. I am in favor of creating a building fund to be used only for the purpose of putting up a new building. In two or three years we could have enough money to put up an edifice that would be an ornament to the city.

"I think that the city ought to have an electric light plant. I would not say the city should own one herself, but that if a private company should feel inclined to start such a plant it should be the duty of the Board to do all in their power to encourage such an undertaking. I only refer to electric lights as I think them cheaper than others, as I have noticed small towns in the northern part of the State with only that kind of light.

"We have a book full of ordinances, but they are not nor have they been enforced as they should be. It is the duty of the City Marshal to see that these ordinances are enforced without fear or favor. This Board is always ready to back up the Marshal in his efforts to do his duty, and all good citizens will also stand by him. Do not be afraid of making enemies in doing your duty, but on the contrary you will be gaining friends.

"Gentlemen, I am here in this Board not for any private gain, nor for something I want to have done around my own premises, but I am here to do for the whole town. I believe that all the members of this Board are with me in this. I believe that it would be to the best interest of all concerned if this city was bonded to carry out all the necessary improvements of this corporation. There are other things that I might speak of but this will do for the present. Thanking you all for your kind attention we will now proceed to business."

The bond of G. H. H. Cornelius in the sum of $1,000 as Treasurer, with Geo. Engler and Chas. Dal Pogetto as sureties, was approved.

Clerk Breitenbach's bond, in the sum of $1,000, with H. H. Granice and L. Modini as bondsmen, was likewise approved.

The bond of City Marshal Robin for $1,500, with H. Castagnasso and A. Pinelli as sureties, was also accepted.

The application of Mrs. Catherine Poppe for a franchise to lay water pipes on Napa street and First-street East was withdrawn by the applicant.

Communications from Robt. A. Poppe and Fred'k T. Duhring were received in regard to the water question. Both were laid over for consideration at the next meeting.

FIVE HOBOS ARRESTED.

They Rob a Construction Car Near this Place.

On Saturday night last Constable Chas. Weise of Glen Ellen and Fred. Fouts arrested five hobos in Beatty's barn in that place on suspicion of robbing a construction car in this place on the Donahue railway on the morning of that day. The robbers were traced to Glen Ellen and were finally located in Beatty's barn between eight and nine o'clock. Constable Weise and Deputy Fouts and a number of section men, who were with them, called upon the men to come out and surrender and upon their refusing to comply with the demand they entered the loft of the barn and covering the five men with their guns ordered them to throw up their hands. The hobos, seeing that the officers meant business, surrendered without resistance. They were then bound hand and foot and thrown out of the loft of the barn to the ground beneath. Having secured their men Messrs. Weise and Fouts brought them into town and lodged them in jail. On the prisoners was found a number of gold-rimmed spectacles, supposed to have been stolen. Nothing, however, could be discovered on their persons to connect them with the robbery of the construction car and on Monday the men were turned loose, owing to a lack of evidence to convict. The same men are suspected of having pilfered from a number of stores in this town. When last seen the hobos were heading toward Santa Rosa.

ROUGH EXPERIENCE.

On Friday of last week, while returning to Napa from the Rose Carnival at Santa Rosa, Dr. Benj. Springsteen and druggist Norris of the former city, were twice thrown out of their buggy between Sonoma and Kenwood. The night was a dark one and as they were carefully feeling their way along the road near Kenwood the horses became frightened and ran away. The animals left the road and brought up in a ditch, throwing the occupants out. The buggy seat was demolished together with the doctor's eight-dollar plug hat. The animals, after running a short distance were secured, the buggy righted and the travelers again took up their journey, improvising a piece of board for a buggy seat. They had not proceeded far, however, when the animals again took fright and becoming unmanageable ran away for the second time, dumping the physician, the druggist, buggy robes and a box of cigars into a promiscuous heap in the middle of the road. Here they were picked up and brought into town by a resident of this place. The horses, buggy and the plug hat were subsequently recovered near the Gibson place. The former was almost completely wrecked, while the latter was a sight to behold, being veritably "knocked into a cocked hat." Fortunately the gentlemen escaped serious injury, although both were more or less bruised up.

The Indiana Auction Company

The Indiana Auction Company of 120 Sutter street, San Francisco, have started a branch of their establishment on Fourth street, Santa Rosa. The company comprises two young business men of this place. At present they are offering a fine line of carpets, ladies and gents furnishing goods, notions, art goods and other lines too numerous to mention. *

An Enterprise that Should be Encouraged.

The French laundry, recently established in this place by Giumini & Danieli, is doing excellent laundry work at fair prices. Next week this laundry will be improved with new labor-saving machinery which will enable the proprietors to compete with any laundry in the county. This is an enterprise which should be encouraged by the people of Sonoma, as it gives employment to a number of white people who spend their earnings at home.

Republican State Convention.

The Republican State Convention, in session in Sacramento this week, embodied a resolution in its platform favoring woman suffrage. It also favored the free coinage of silver 16 to 1, and indorsed McKinley of Ohio for President and instructed its delegates to vote for him. John C. Lynch was nominated for Lieutenant Governor and Irving M. Scott and Chas. F. Crocker were chosen electors. John D. Spreckles, Geo. A. Knight, U. S. Grant and L. A. Shelden were elected delegates at large. The following were elected district delegates:

First district—A. B. Lemmon, Santa Rosa; Dan T. Cole, Sierra. Pledged to McKinley.

Second district—Grove L. Johnson, Sacramento City; Jacob Neff. Pledged to McKinley.

The Biggest Fool at Large

Is the individual who persistently neglects his health, and the means of preserving and restoring it. Many persons who are not constitutional idiots do this. They are genuine objects of compassion as well as censure. A failure of appetite, loss of sleep and flesh, impaired digestion, an uncertain state of the bowels and symptoms of biliousness are so many warnings of the approach of disease. To disregard them is abject folly, which offended nature in due time punishes severely, if not fatally. That genial and thoroughly reliable preventive of bodily mischief in the shape of chronic disease, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will, if resorted to in time, avert those disorders, to the removal of which it is also fully adequate. Among these are chronic indigestion, liver complaint, constipation, kidney troubles, nervousness, rheumatism and malaria.

SONOMA INDEX - TRIBUNE.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, MAY 9, 1896.

A Gentleman of the Old School.

President Kruger lives up to his Puritan principles. When in Paris, he refused all invitations to go out on a Sunday, and he thought the costumes worn by ladies at the opera or parties very immodest. He said he could not think how any lady who respected herself could look at a ballet. The only books he had ever read besides the Bible were the "History of the Princes of Orange," "History of the Thirty Years' War," Motley's "History of the Dutch Republic," Macaulay's writings on William of Orange and "The Pilgrim's Progress." He said that in the Transvaal when a boy was sent to school he was provided with a gun and a pound of ammunition. He could then bring home a bag of game and defend himself against the Kaffirs, but the parents tried, nevertheless, to make these self reliant boys understand that the meek shall inherit the earth.

Another story told of President Kruger is that when he got home from his visit to Europe he said England was well enough, but the land seemed to be all owned by somebody. One could not even go out into the country and sit down under a tree to smoke his pipe but somebody would come along and say that he owned the land and ask what the smoker was doing there.—Buffalo Courier.

Ducking Stools.

Ducking stools are noticed as existing formerly at Chester, Cambridge, Rugby, Southam, Coventry, Nottingham, Southwell (Notts), Retford, Grimsby, Scarborough, Hull, Beverley, Morley (near Leeds), Ilkley, East Ardsley, Craven, Manchester, Liverpool, Preston, Kirkham, Burnley, Derby, Chesterfield, Kingston-on-Thames and Leicester. Examples of the actual instrument seem still to be preserved at Leominster, Ipswich, Scarborough and Leicester. The latest recorded use of the ducking stool (the designations cucking and ducking were, of course, synonymous in the days of Queen Elizabeth) was in 1809. It was at Leominster, when a woman named Jenny Pipes, alias Jane Corran, was paraded through the town on the ducking stool and ducked in the water near Kenwater bridge by order of the magistrates. In 1817 another woman, called Sarah Leeke, was wheeled round the place in the same chair, but not ducked, as, fortunately for her, the water was too low. The instrument of punishment in question has not been used since then.—Notes and Queries.

A Soothing Car Ride.

The latest cure for insomnia is cheap. The remedy was suggested by an old doctor to whom a despairing young man had gone for advice. "Of course," said the doctor, "I could give you drugs that would put you to sleep, but in the case of a young man that is to be avoided. The reason you cannot sleep is your nerves are unstrung. That does not necessarily mean that you must put your nervous system to sleep by the use of drugs. What you want is a mild excitement, that will lift your nervous system out of the rut it has fallen into. The best thing in the world to do that is a trolley ride. Don't try to settle upon a particular route. Just jump on any car that comes along. Don't even ask the conductor where the car is going, but just go along with the car. It will surely come back some time to the point where you took it. If the route is eight or ten miles long, so much the better. One thing is certain—you will either sleep during the ride or as soon as it is over."—Philadelphia Record.

Most Popular Novels.

The novel or story which has probably enjoyed the largest term of popularity is "Robinson Crusoe," by Daniel Defoe, published in 1719. This novel attained great popularity from its first appearance and is one of the very few that have continued to be popular down to the present day, or for more than 175 years. Defoe died April 24, 1731. The next most popular works of fiction were the Waverley novels of Sir Walter Scott, published in 1814-1881. So successful have these novels been from then till now that no fewer than 30 men have been uninterruptedly engaged by one Edinburgh firm for the last quarter of a century in producing them. Of Harriet Beecher Stowe's novel, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," published in 1851, more than a million copies in English have been sold.—Philadelphia Times.

Independence of Janitors.

The young man in dinner jacket has forgotten his keys—left them in the pockets of his afternoon dress. He is pulling with all his might the bellknob in the midnight air, saturated by rain. In the basement drawing room the janitor is surrounded by blue spirals from his cigar, as blond as the hair of a fairy princess. The janitor's wife is reading The North American Review. Their daughter, Ada, whose neck is swanlike, is playing a "Reverie" by Chopin on the grand piano, painted in delicate representations of roses on a light green background.

The Lone Juryman Not Unanimous.

In the trial of a case in Powell county not long ago the attorneys objected to all the jurors who had been summoned save one. As no others were at hand, it was agreed that the action should be tried by the one remaining juryman. After the evidence was heard the judge told the lone juror to retire and make up a verdict. He retired, and, after staying out for over an hour, came back and reported solemnly that the jury had failed to agree upon a verdict. —Louisville Courier-Journal.

It is the old lesson—a worthy purpose, patient energy for its accomplishment, a resoluteness undaunted by difficulties, and then success.—W. H. Punshon.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

How the Last Juror Was Won.

Dr. Robert D. Sheppard, business agent of the Northwestern university, relates a story of how he once won a lawsuit which illustrates the manner in which lawyers sometimes adapt themselves to their juries.

"There was no question," said Dr. Sheppard, "but that I was in the right of the case. The evidence was conclusive, the law was on my side, and when my attorney arose to make his opening address he thought he had the case won. He briefly reviewed the evidence, stated the law in the case, and was about to close his argument when he noticed that one of the jurors, a stolid old farmer, did not seem to be with him. The other 11 men had already decided the case in their own minds, but the farmer had a sluggish, set expression on his countenance which boded no good for me or my case. Again my lawyer reviewed the evidence, addressing his remarks entirely to this one man, but no impression was made. The same stolid expression still occupied the man's face, and he seemed as little likely to be moved as the courthouse in which the trial was taking place. The attorney tried all kinds of arguments, and finally, when he was about giving up in despair, a happy thought struck him. He repeated again the bare facts, and when he came to a place where the person opposing me had made an egregious error in judgment he leaned over to the old farmer and said:

"'And I want to tell you, my friend, that there's where he dropped his watermelon.'

"The old farmer's face lighted up, and from that moment the case was won. The jury was out less than five minutes and brought back a verdict for all that I had asked."—Chicago Chronicle.

It Was In His Bill.

That reminds me of a story they tell about Rudyard Kipling — indeed, I won't be sure that it isn't he who tells it. He staid at a hotel once upon a time, in Montreal, I think it was, and when he came to go away he asked for the landlord. The landlord appeared.

"I wanted to see you," said Mr. Kipling, "because you are a wonderful man. I have never known your equal. I have sojourned in hotels all around the world. I have never seen one like this."

The landlord swelled with pride. He intimated that the thing was really nothing when you knew how to do it. He was in a seventh heaven of delight. Mr. Kipling waited till he neared earth again. Then he resumed:

"I want to tell you that of all the hotels under the shining sun I have never seen one that for unmitigated, all round, unendurable discomfort could not even be named in the same day with yours."

And when Mr. Kipling's bill was made out, one item in it read, "To impudence, $3." But what's $3, when one has spoken one's mind?—Washington Post.
